THE PATTINSON WATCH ALARM

Helps keep the man on the wheel awake

The Pattinson Watch Alarm is an electronic timer that cycles every 8 minutes. At 8 minutes a red light comes on and if the reset button is not hit within one minute, a buzzer sounds. An on-off key switch assures the Watch Alarm stays in use.

With today's ever-shorter openings and more intense fishing, everyone on board is dog tired when the hold is full and it's time to head home. That's when the Watch Alarm can help. Whether it's the skipper or the cook on watch, he'll be kept alert on the job.

"When we're charging back out to get another load of sockeye before the quota is all gone, or in a big rush switching fisheries, there's not the time for a good rest like in the old days. I've had my Watch Alarm on my boat for 3 years now," says Howard Pattinson of the Wild Prairie Rose, "and it sure helps me knowing my man on the wheel is awake."
